The twenty-first Illinois, the "Twenty-first Illinois," will have a reunion to-day in Decatur. A great many of the old boys are already here to attend. Among others are Comrade King, from Nashville, Tenn., and Wiley Jones, the old quartermaster. The reunion will begin with a business meeting at 2 this afternoon at the G. A. R. hall. At the same place a camp-fire will be held to-night. A good program has been arranged. Miss Lizzie Knieper, being on for two or three selections. All soldiers and their wives are invited to turn out and give the veterans a rousing welcome to our city.

More Fishermen Fined.

Justice Hammer had another batch of violators of the fish law before him yesterday, gathered in on warrants sworn out by Fish Warden Richard Harkness. Alex. Turner was fined $10 and costs which he paid, and the others were dismissed on payment of the costs. They were David Ritchie, William Turner, George Baum and H. M. Faith. There is yet one more lot to be brought into the tolls, and that is thought to be about all of the violators.

COURT CONVENES AGAIN.

A Suit Against the P. D. & E.—Business. On the People's Docket.

Judge Smith commenced the business of the circuit court yesterday after the adjournment from last week. One case that has attracted considerable interest is that of Bradley Bros. vs. the Citizens Electric Street Railway company. The suit was brought for damages because the company failed to stop its cars at Bradley Bros' store, calling the name of the store, as they had contracted to do. Buckingham & Schroll, attorneys for the plaintiff, were given leave to amend the declaration and make new parties defendants, and the case was continued until the January term.

Edward Wade brings suit against the P. D. & E. railroad for the value of a bull and a horse killed by one of their trains. The bull was killed three or four years ago and the horse on July 3. The damage was done at Crimmins crossing near Bolling Springs. There are a large number of witnesses on both sides. The case will be finished today. Docket entries for yesterday's business are as follows:

COMMON LAW DOCKET.

FINES.

S. S. JACK, P. M.

No Fine to Be Paid.

The case of the city against the Decatur Electric company has been called to notice again by the action of the city authorities. The case was pressed by I. D. Walker, who got nothing for his services. He secured a judgment before Justice Hammer of $100 against the company for cutting the trees near the power line. The time for appealing that case expired Saturday. Under ordinary circumstances an execution would have been issued and the defendant made to pay the fine. Monday morning, however, Mayor Kanaw was on hand and told the justice he need not issue any execution, just to let the matter drop. It is quite likely that nothing more will be done in the case. The mayor told the justice that he was running this thing and he didn't want any execution issued.

Pavement is Bad.

In the council meeting Monday night Alderman Simpson said the pavement on East Wood and South Webster street had been put back in the Short Line right of way in bad shape. He thought as the city had paid D. C. Shockey $5 a day to see that the pavement was put down in good shape, it was too bad to allow the first street car company that came along to tear all the sand out of the pavement and leave it in the worst kind of shape. The alderman asked Chairman Scanlan of the street and alley committee to see that the pavement was fixed up.

To Rockford.

The W. C. T. U. convention of Illinois will be in session at Rockford this week. The delegates from Decatur who have already gone to attend it are Mrs. L. M. Brown, Mrs. Underwood and Miss Maggie Crisay, Misses Lizzie Ebbert and Etta Andrews went to represent the "Y's."

Good Templars.

Decatur lodge of Good Templars had a regular meeting last night at which this program was given: Reading, Miss Grace Trump; recitation, Fred Depevo; song, Frank Bunn; speech, Mrs. T. J. McDer-mott. It was reported that $14.75 were raised on the recent occasion.

Ticket Made to Order.

The Republican Senatorial Convention at Lincoln.

Ten men from Macon county went over to Lincoln yesterday and with some Logan county fellows went through the formality of nominating a ticket. They might as well have staid at home and sent one man with 10 votes, or even sent in their votes by mail. The whole thing was arranged before hand, and beyond selecting a senatorial committee there was nothing to be done.

The 10 delegates from Macon were George R. Steele, W. H. Bean, Thomas Pennwell, C. L. Hovey, P. B. Provost, Rudolph Thomas, Messrs. Foulk, Maroo, Clements, Macon; Hamilton, Illinois, Wallace, Oakley. They left yesterday on the morning P. D. & E. train.

The convention was held in the court house. It was called to order about 10 o'clock. C. L. Hovey, of Decatur, was made temporary chairman and F. B. Mills, of Lincoln, temporary secretary. The temporary organization was afterwards made permanent. Then a committee on credentials did its work quickly, as there were no contests.

W. H. Bean then nominated James Millikin of Decatur as candidate for State Senator. That was according to the program. No one else was named, and Mr. Millikin was therefore chosen by acclamation. Then George R. Steele named D. P. Keller of Macon as one representative and a Logan county man nominated W. H. Kretzinger of Latham as the other. That was all right, too, and as the bosses had decided. So no contest was spoken of, and the two men were chosen by acclamation, with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The name of John A. Barnes was not even whispered in the convention. His goose had been well cooked at a caucus of Macon county delegates held in Decatur Monday night. It has been known that he was a candidate for some time, he was an old soldier, and would have been a good man in the place as the republicans could have named. In the caucus he had the most delegates, but Mr. Millikin had said he wanted to be the senator, but he wouldn't have any other Decatur man on the ticket, and must have a farmer, and so Mr. Barnes' friends had to drop him.

George R. Steele, of Macon, and F. B. Mills were chosen as the district committee.

Messrs. Keller and Kretzinger filed in a little time by making speeches, relating what good things had been done by the republican party, and how many times it had saved the country from those traitors, the democrats, drawing beautiful pictures of what glorious prospects there were for their own election, and finally closing with a storm of applause.

The convention adjourned about 11:30 and the delegates went to dinner.

Thomas Pennwell, who was a delegate from Macon county not in his work. He is the city passenger agent for the T. H. & P. So he suggested that the whole crowd take a walk, and run up to Atlanta, take the morning train, and come down at night. They did that, getting here at 3 in the afternoon.

Died at Niantic.

Lucilla P. Paris, wife of Dr. E. S. Paris, died at the home of her son, J. P. Paris, Monday Oct. 6, at 9:05 p. m. She had been suffering with a cancer since last April, and bore her suffering with marked Christian fortitude.

Lucilla Pullman was born in Kentucky, July 1, 1812, and a few years later moved with her parents to Highland county, O., where she was married Dec. 18, 1830, to E. S. Paris. She was the mother of 12 children, 6 of whom are living. They are S. J. Paris, of Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Margie L. Pickering, Portsmouth, N. H., Mrs. Jennie Jacobson and Mr. Lullie Hall, of Tuscola, Ill., J. P. Paris, and Mrs. Nellie Hawk, of Niantic, all of whom except Mrs. Pickering were at her bedside when she died.

She joined the Christian church early in life, and was always faithful, doing good to everyone.

The funeral will be held at the Christian church, Wednesday, the 8 at 10:40, Rev. Gilliland will conduct the services.

The City Lamps.

City Attorney McDonald and Alderman Park will not go to Ft. Wayne till next week to see the Jenny people about the electric lamps. That is the company which put in the plant. The lamps infringe on the Brush company's patents. It has notified the city to settle in some way. One way is to buy a new outfit of Brush lamps. That seems about what will have to be done. In the meantime the city will see if it can make the Jenny company pay the expense. The city authorities understood at the time the plant was put in that the Jenny company guaranteed the city against loss from just such a contingency as has arisen. City Attorney McDonald says now that the contract does not say anything of the kind but he thinks the company can be held just the same. If these lamps were disposed of and new ones bought, it is likely that the expense to the city would be something above $1,000.

The European's New Landlord.

J. F. Curry will take possession of the European hotel this morning and run it as a good hotel. His control of the Hotel Brunswick will not be given up until tomorrow.

To The Readers

And Especially the

LADY READERS

OF THE REVIEW.

The manufacturers of "THE PURE" Baking Powder in making their bow to the public need to frankly state a few important facts:

First—This powder has been adopted and endorsed by the Wholesale Grocers' National association as the best pure cream of tartar Baking Powder made.

Second—We make no extravagant claims or assertions; the quality of the powder is expressed by the name.

Third—We have no words of condemnation for other powders; there are some powders in the market which are very good, there are far more that are poisonous; we know ours to be pure and of the highest quality.

Fourth—Realizing that results alone can prove the merit of any article, we believe that "THE PURE" Baking Powder, which is an advancement in modern discovery and science, will furnish results for the household never before accomplished, thus proving helpful to the south and "popular with the ladies." We respectfully request that this powder be a careful trial and are

A Better Never Seen.
Of the new "Fantasma," which will be here Friday and Saturday nights, with a matinee Saturday, the New York Herald says:

It has come to be known as the truth, requiring no demonstration, that whatever the Haulons do or identify themselves with, it is always a success. Indeed, these femous brothers have never, since their boy-hood, made a failure of anything connected with the stage, and their names alone, attached to the play of "Fantasma," would be a sufficient guarantee of its worth. A better play of its kind than "Fantasma" has never been seen in America, and as such deserves the crowded houses it is drawing at the Fifth Avenue theatre.

Police Notes.

F. M. Ford was fined $5 and costs by Justice Hammer yesterday, on charge of drunkenness.

James Haneby forfeited a $7 bond to Justice Stevens yesterday. He had been arrested as a drunk and disorderly and released on that bond. The bond was not in large enough to cover the lowest fine and costs under that charge, and Mr. Haneby consequently showed his large head by forfeiting, as the cheapest way to get out.
That would hardly seem the desired end under the regulations for taking bonds however.

CRAWFORD IN COURT.

HE COMES TO PLEAD GUILTY BUT FEAR STOPS HIM.

He Wanted to, But His Nerve Failed Him —The General Opinion—He Asks For a Lawyer—O. A. Ewing Appointed—Crawford Goes Back to Jail Without Pleading.

Bill Crawford, the murderer, was in court yesterday afternoon. It was expected when he was brought in that he would plead guilty, but he must have changed his mind at the last minute. At any rate he went back to jail without pleading anything.
It was not generally known that he was to be brought into court. Yesterday forenoon Crawford sent word to State's Attorney Mills that he wanted to see him. The state's attorney went to the jail. There Crawford told him that he wanted to plead guilty. He continued that he wanted to die; that he had nothing to live for; he murdered Mrs. Mathias because he loved her, he didn't know any other reason; now he wanted to plead guilty and die, and have it over with, but he didn't want to be killed by a mob. Mr. Mills of course had no objections to Crawford making that plea, and therefore arranged to have the court take up his case just after dinner.

Before court opened in the afternoon the crowd began to grow. It was not generally known that Crawford was to be brought in, but the news seemed to be spreading because many people kept dropping in. Several ladies were among the spectators.
Nearly all of the chairs were occupied when at just half past 1 Sheriff Maury rapped on his desk and said, "Oyez, oyez, oyez, the honorable circuit court is now open."

A case against a railroad company was taken up, and the lawyers talked about it for 10 minutes. Presently a little stir was heard at the front door. Janitor Carter held it open and Officer Ed Leech and Deputy Sheriff Harry Midkiff appeared carrying a big chair, in which sat Crawford. His head hung down, his hands clasped behind him. He didn't look around or appear to see where he was going while he was being carried across the room. His chair was set down just in front of the sheriff's table, about 10 feet from the judge.
A great crowd of people had followed the officers up stairs, and every one in the room stood up against the railing to get a look at the prisoner.

The lawyers went on with the railroad case a few minutes. Crawford didn't look up all the time he was in the room.
Some said his sore neck prevented him from raising his head. Opinion among those who have seen him in the jail differs on that point, however.
It is thought he might hold his head up if he wanted to. At any rate he didn't look around once, but sat in thought, eyes fixed on the floor, and hands on the arms of the chair, until he was carried out.

He looked white and thin. His light colored mustache dropped over his mouth.
His whole appearance was dropping, in fact. There was nothing of the murderer about his face, which was rather good than otherwise.

State's Attorney Mills handed Constable Midkiff a paper and he, taking a seat next to Crawford, began to read it in a whisper.
The document was a copy of the indictment. It had been offered Crawford, but he asked the officer to read it. During the reading the lawyers kept on with the railroad case, while every one in the room squirmed around and stared at the prisoner.

When the railroad case was disposed of, Mr. Mills said: "We wish to take up case 3647—The People vs. Wm. H. Crawford." Judge Smith said, "Do you wish an arraignment?"

The state's attorney replied yes, and continued that the defendant had been furnished with a copy of the indictment.

Said the judge: "Have you an attorney?"
There was no answer. Apparently Crawford didn't hear a word. For several seconds there was not a sound in the room.
Then Harry Midkiff repeated the question to Crawford, and then said to the court:
"He has none. He can't speak above a whisper."

Judge—"Ask him if he wants one?" Sheriff Maury (to the spectators):—"Gentlemen, you will please be seated. You can all see that."

Midkiff (after some little time—"He says he wants one.") Judge—"Has he means to employ one?" Midkiff—"He says he has no means to employ an attorney."

Judge Smith cast a glance over the bar, and with scarcely a pause, said: "Mr. Ewing, I'll ask you to consult with this young man and represent him in his defense."

Mr. Ewing (rising)—"I accept what the court chooses to put upon me, but I should be glad if some one else appointed also.
There will be great and arduous labor in this case, and there ought to be some other good attorney appointed to help me. I ought not to be asked to do it alone."

Judge—"I'll not appoint any other now.
You may consult with him and see what he wants to do."

Crawford in his chair was then carried out into one of the jury room, whether he was followed by Mr. Ewing. Three officers stood in a group outside the door and whispered. The other attorneys moved restlessly about, while the court went on with cases on call for the day. A lot of cases were continued. Perhaps 10 minutes had elapsed when Mr. Ewing came back, and just after him Crawford was carried. When the little confusion attendant upon their entrance had subsided, Mr. Ewing said:

"This document handed me as a copy of the indictment is illegible. This list of witnesses is it? (Mr. Mills—"It is a list of jurors.") This list of jurors also, is illegible, and I want clear copy on good paper."

Mr. Mills—"You can have the original indictment, if you wish it."

Mr. Ewing—"No. I want a copy that I can examine carefully." Then to the court, "It cannot be decided now what were best to do. Some time must be taken to see if this man has a defense. The court should appoint a competent attorney to assist me in looking over the case, that we may see what is best to be done."

Judge—"The court will consider that matter later. I hardly think it necessary now. When you need another attorney he may be appointed."

That closed the matter for the present.
Crawford was carried back to the jail and the crowd began to leave the court room.
Mr. Ewing said last night that it could not be determined whether Crawford was guilty or not, and probably no decision will be arrived at for a day or two.

THE REPUBLICAN RALLY.

John F. Scanlan Speaks to a Full House
Last Night.

The republicans and the Salvation army had made the streets last night to drum up the attendance at their respective meetings. The republicans got the best of it, as they got a good crowd up in the court house to listen to John F. Scanlan, of Chicago. A prominent republican said about twenty minutes after the speaking began, "He's got a pretty good crowd there, for the kind of stuff he's giving them," and he expressed it. Mr. Scanlan talked along in a perfunctory kind of way about the tariff and its effects on Irishmen. He said Turkey, Spain, and Japan have tariffs for revenue, while Ireland has free trade.
Look at them! Ireland was not always poor and distressed as now. Once she had a protective tariff and prosperity.
Then free trade came, and after it seasons of famine and distress. The case of Ireland and the United States was made out to be the same, and of course if Ireland had had protection all these years it would now be as great as this country is.

People were going out all the time during the speech. The only applause heard was from a poor dog that happened to have strayed into the crowd, and he only yelled when some one accidentally let a chair leg down on his tail.

Want Him Shown Up.
Mr. EDITOR—I was much disgusted last night to hear Mr. John F. Scanlan compare the patriot, Robert Emmet, the great Irish Martyr, to John Brown of America. There is no comparison between them. This man Scanlan should not have been here, talking us about patriotism, anyway. He is a conscienceless Irishman of the worst type. His talk caused him to get rotten eggs at Lafayette, Ind., and that was none too good for him.

AN IRISHMAN.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

Mrs. Joseph Mills returned home yesterday from a visit at Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shoemaker went to Monmouth yesterday for a week's visit.

Mrs. George Shearer, of Cleveland, is in the city, a guest of Mrs. Charles Weldon.

General Eber, of Chicago, was in Decatur yesterday afternoon and went to Fabius, Ill.

Marshall W. W. Mason went to Indianapolis yesterday morning.

Justice P. B. Provost was at Lincoln yesterday attending the republican convention.

Mrs. Lydia Moore Porter, who was dangerously ill Sunday and Monday was better yesterday.

John L. Robinson, an old resident of Decatur, who now lives at Sandoval, Ill., was here yesterday.

Mrs. A. G. Chadsey and daughter, Miss Lillie, are expected to return this week from their visit in New York.

Elmer Bower who has been working at the Herald office, went last night to Chicago where he has secured employment at the printer's trade.

John Humphrey, of Memphis, Tenn., was here yesterday to see his brother, S.
Humphrey of the New Store. He left on the 5 o'clock Central train for his home.

Mrs. L. A. Hovey, who has been visiting her son, Ed Willis, during the illness of his children has returned home to Bloomington. His little boy is now sick with scarlet fever.

Visitors yesterday: William Roland, Lovington; Richard Hoover and Mrs. Dr. Morgan, Maroa; Mrs. Grace Dutton; Michael Ducey and Dr. Bowers, LaPlace; Mrs. E.
G. Washburn and daughter, Miss Edna, Macomb.

William Wickens and wife, of Marietta, O., who have been here the guests of George Wickens, on North Church street, will leave this morning for St. Louis. He will be accompanied by attorney George F. Wickens.

REVIEW POSTOFFICE.

Trucks on the Depot Platform.
Envoys Royalty—Since we cannot have a union depot with its modern conveniences for the convenience of passengers and train men, it would at least be a good thing if as much attention be paid as possible to that convenience. The baggage and mail transfer men have to haul the trucks with great loads of trunks and mail sacks, along the crowded platform, and passengers waiting for trains must avoid as much as possible being in the way.

It is just Midkiff (after some little time—"He says

STRAY SCRAPS.

Work on the sewers was resumed yesterday.

The Maroon Presbyterians have decided to call Rev. W. F. Gibson to the pastorate of their church.

The Misses Mills will give a party Friday night at their handsome new home in the Starr & Mills addition.

The W. C. T. U. will have a meeting tomorrow night at which some important business will be transacted.

George Davis, a harness maker in the employ of Hill & Beatty, cut his hand severely on Monday. He will be off this week.

To-morrow will be the big day at the St.
Louis fair, and all those who can only go for one day are making their plans to take the trip then.

The Springfield Prohitory began its session yesterday at Maroa. Rev. W. H.
Penhallegon and R. P. Lytle are representing the Decatur church.

The ladies of the Congregational church are preparing to serve supper from 5 to 7 in the bicycle rooms on Friday evening. A sale and festival will follow.

The water color picture of the new Presbyterian church that was at the opera house last Sunday, may now be seen in the show window of the Linn & Scruggs store.

Mrs. J. T. Roberts gave a Salmigundi party yesterday afternoon at her residence, 354 West Main street. There were about 35 guests present, the hours being from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Several children are out of the schools on account of diphtheria in their family. As soon as one child in the family gets the disease, all the others in that family must stay at home.

The Henry Burlesque and Specialty company will be at the opera house next Tuesday. A minstrel show is down on the books for next week, but nothing has been heard from them lately.

The telephone company officials say they are ready to put their wires into cables and improve the service generally as soon as the city council will let them. The plans have been made and the material selected.

John C. Bolay, Adolf Schlick and Charles Pfister gave up allegiance to their European sovereigns in the county court yesterday and received their final naturalization papers, as full fledged citizens of the U. S.

There was a pumpkin sociable last night at the A. M. E. church, and a most enjoyable time was reported. The decorations were yellow, faded oranges yellow, big yellow pumpkins make fine jack-lanterns, and pumpkin pie formed the leading article of the bill of fare.

Some of the people on West Macon street are wondering how the public improvement committee of the city council will spend their Sundays. Since that pavement has been going down, the committee has inspected it regularly every Sunday. The work is about done.

The Short Line has not yet been able to cross the Central track at East Wood street, because the crossing as first put in was on such a curve that the cars would leave the rails and take a start toward the ditch. A force of men was putting the crossing in yesterday on a new curve.

A supply of coal is being laid in at the waterworks that will come in handy if there should be another strike of miners.
Papers in other cities have been doing some talking about another strike. The new shed at the works will hold coal enough for six weeks. That much will be put in it.

Superintendent McWhiggen, who has been in charge of the Short Line machinery and cars for some time, left last night for Detroit. He will visit there a short time and then be sent to some other place where the Detroit Electrical works need his services. Mr. McWhiggen says he has received the plant here from destruction and made it as good as any in the world. J. H.
Turner, who has been here since July, will succeed Mr. McWhiggen as superintendent.

A boy about 15 was riding a black pony yesterday. He was a well dressed boy, good looking, and rather plump. Near the corner of Union and Macon streets the mud was about a foot deep, soft, swamy and black. The pony trotted along easily until it got in that mud. Then it paused, stood still a minute, and suddenly bowed its back in a fashion that would have been creditable to the worst bucking broncho that ever galloped over a Texas ranch. That boy shot straight up in the air, turned gracefully over the pony's head, and fell flat on his back, hands and legs outstretched, in that mud. It wasn't "a dull sickening thud," but a loud, surprising swash that the bystanders heard. There happened to be a dozen or more people in the vicinity. They all laughed, without waiting to learn that the boy wasn't hurt.

TRACK AND TRAIN.

There were 135 round trip tickets sold to St. Louis yesterday at the Washburn depot ticket office.

O. D. Perry, C. & A. traveling agent, with headquarters at Indianapolis, was here yesterday.

E. M. Merrillweather, of the road department, was in Danville yesterday. He will go to St. Louis today.

U. S. G. Hough, of St. Louis, traveling passenger agent of the C. K. I. & P., was in Decatur yesterday.

The new Pullman sleeping car "Eylan" was on the midnight train to Chicago last night, and it is a beauty.

W. F. Cheevers, passenger and ticket agent of the C. K. I. & P. from Maroa, was in Decatur yesterday looking up business.

I. S. Pharo, G. C. Kinsman, E. F. Dawson and M. M. Martin were among the Wabash men who went to St. Louis yesterday.

The Evansville Journal has quite a complimentary notice of Ed. Willis, the I. C. baggage man, who spent last Sunday in that city.

Engineer John Royster of the P. D. & E., and his fireman are in Decatur to-day as witnesses in the case of Wade against the P. D. & E. for killing his horse last July.

Decatur at St. Louis.
The crowd that goes to see the annual spectacle of the Veiled Prophets seems to grow larger each year. Monday 135 round trip tickets to St. Louis were sold at the Decatur office of the Wabash. Tuesday 175 were sold. So it is quite probable that 300 Decatur people saw the parade last night.

The names of a few who went are given here:
Mrs. S. J. Banstead, Miss Anna Henkle, John Irwin, Miss Lillian Irwin, Mrs. G. C. Kinsman, Mr. and Mrs. Theo.

Carved in Carroll's saloon.

One of the iron workers who came from Terre Haute to take the place of strikers at Loeb's foundry packed up yesterday morning and started to go back to Terre Haute.
He got as far as Carroll's saloon on the levee and stopped in there to get a drink. In a very short time he was deep into a fracas, with the result that when he emerged he was one of the most frightful looking objects ever seen. He was badly beaten and cut,
